Kitchen Garden

Baba Ganoush and Guacamole dips - how delicious; students created two delectable dips from fresh ingredients and then enjoyed taste testing them with some corn chips and pita bread at lunchtime. They were all surprised at how much they enjoyed these healthy snacks.

Of course, everyone was looking forward to something sweet after all the delicious savoury tasting. Our healthy Apple jelly really ‘hit the spot’, made with only apple juice and gelatine; we learnt that pre-made jelly has minimal nutritional value and has sugar as a main ingredient.

One of the most valuable elements in the cooking program is the students introduction to ingredients combined in different ways, with different textures and flavours. They have great conversations about food origins - Lebanon, Mexico; the multi-cultural component is very important.

Chooks & Chook Yard

Dads, ex-students and current students got together recently to build the hens a larger home. Positioned adjacent to the Administration building, this striking construction was made from the old cricket pitch fence that has been attached to the existing tennis court fence. We are very grateful to our dads for this fabulous contribution and of course to Mrs Ridley for her co-ordination and supervision of the construction.

Melody: We have our old chickens and new chickens back with us. We have two mothers, one rooster, two baby chickens and four assorted juniors hatched from 2013.

Forbes Museum & Library

As a continuation of students HSIE subject ‘Now & Then’, students visited the Forbes Museum and Library on Wednesday 26th March.

Karla: I saw a photo of a race horse with a big piece of fence stuck in it.

Madison: I got to see all the old kitchen machines.

Melody: We went to the Forbes Museum. I saw lots of things. My favourite thing was the tea pot. The museum had old kitchen things like a Mix Master, fridge, clothes wringer and fire place. It had dresses that they work in the olden days.

Jeordy: While visiting the Library, I was able to research about early explorers. The person I am researching is John Oxley, who travelled along the Lachlan River and passed through Forbes on his expedition. We gathered lots of important information. It was a great time for researching.

Aaron: When we were visiting the Library, I was able to research Burke and Wills for a subject at school about Australian Early Explorers. We were able to borrow some books to continue our research after at school.
